Regarding Brian Jolicoeur

During the past two years Brian has handled two major jobs for me.

1. A major problem with an oil furnace at one of my rentals. I had an ongoing problem with the oil burner failing to start and during cold weather that presented a major issue for my tenants. The company providing the service came at least 6 times and never really resolved the actual problem & this resulted in late night calls and very expensive service calls. I contacted AllTemp Climate Control and discussed what was happening with Brian, who came to the rental and analyzed the problem. He made his proposal of how to eliminate the problem and implemented the fix the next day. After 2 years I have had no additional problems with this furnace.
2. I had a loss of AC at my home & called AllTemp. The problem was analyzed quickly as a leaking compressor and a replacement was ordered and installed the next day. Again, the installation was done professionally and quickly with no further problems.

Brian does quality workmanship, stands behind work with warranty, is dependable, On Time, and very professional.

He is an excellent technician who is up to date with current standards and equipment. He meets his commitments and completes the job on time and within in his quoted budget.

He is thorough, checked everything on the first service call to insure it runs as good or better than new, is courteous, clean and respectful.

I recommend Brian highly.

Best regards,

Fred Meyer
